

April 8 2008 - Excursion to Berlin

9.00 - 9.40

Journey with German Rail from Luckenwalde to Berlin

9

109.00 -12.30

11 Visit of the Reichstag

9 00 – 19.00

10 Walk through Berlin (Brandenburger Tor, Holocaust Memorial, Checkpoint Charlie, Alexanderplatz)

At 21.00 we've been back to Luckenwalde

When we've arrived at the Berlin Hauptbahnhof, we did not know what we're going to see this day. After a short walk to the Reichstag they've planed a suprise for me – I was really scared!

Whatever, after half an hour of standing on the beautiful stairs of the Reichstag we've came in. At least there were some of pictures and stories about the german history.

As I was not very interesetd in that place i was not very sad when we've leaved the Reichstag to the Brandenburger Tor and the Holocaust Memorial where the spanish students played a funny hiding-game.

After visiting Checkpoint Charlie where our spanish friend have learned how terrible the russian reign in east Germany has been, we've walked to the Alexanderplatz and waiting for the next train to train to leave Berlin.

Although it was hard to walk about 12 hours through our german capital, and I was totaly tired when we were back home – the day was one of those days I won't forget for a long time.
