

An interesting week of September

I was very nervous as the partners came. During the trip from airport to home, we were very quiet in the car, because no one knew exactly what to say. At home everything became easier. I thought it would be difficult for me to speak the whole time only in English, but from the third day, it was difficult for me to speak only in German with my family without English words. It was a very interesting and important experience for me, because I think you should broaden your English and use the English knowledge. I think because of the week I can speak in English easier, open and better. In this week I learned a lot of new words and I improved my grammar. The week has brought a lot to me. It had made fun to show my life and my background to my partner. The week has shown me how different it is when you are not living in the same country. The habits from the other country I have noticed, what was really interesting. At most I liked the trip to Potsdam with the group because it was very relaxed, we had no longer looked out for small souvenirs and you could just talk with the others and change the impressions. The other days were really great, too. Now I wish that time as quickly as possible passes and we go to Barcelona.
